TEEING OFF

For the first time, the 38th annual Dr. Donnis Thompson Invitational (March 17–19) – the University of Hawai'i's storied women's golf tournament – will move from O'ahu to Kaua'i. Hawai'i's "Garden Isle" will host 15 teams from 12 states on the Ocean Course at Hōkūala.

TEAMS

Arizona State, Boise State, Fresno State, Hawai'i, Long Beach State, Mercer, Morehead State, New Mexico, North Carolina, Rutgers, Sacramento State, San Francisco, Texas State, Tulane and Washington.

10 teams are ranked in this week's NCAA Division I Top 100 (per SCOREBOARD), led by No. 19 Arizona State and No. 29 North Carolina.

Last week, the Sun Devils were red-hot against a deep field, defeating 11 of the top 25 teams in the country to win the Darius Rucker Intercollegiate (Hilton Head Island, South Carolina).

In October 2023, the Tar Heels won the inaugural St. Andrews Links Collegiate on the famed Old Course. Their victory in last month's UCF Challenge (Orlando, Florida) over an 18-team field was their second team championship in as many starts.

Two-time defending champion Sacramento State seeks their third straight Dr. Donnis Thompson Intercollegiate title. The Hornets will fly high to Kaua'i after capturing last month's Causeway Invitational (Sacramento, California).

INDIVIDUALS

Washington senior Camille Boyd is projected to be the top-ranked player at Hōkūala. The two-time collegiate winner will arrive on Kaua'i after tying for first place in last week's Juli Inkster Meadow Club Intercollegiate (Fairfax, California).

Boyd's Huskie teammate, senior Stefanie Deng, won the Lady Bulldog Invitational (Athens, Georgia) in January.

Arizona State's Ashley Menne, a three-time Arizona Women's Amateur Champion, aims to cap off her senior season with a historic feat: becoming just the fourth four-time All-American in program history.

Twin sisters Jasmine and Janae Leovao will tee it up for Long Beach State. Jasmine earned 2022-23 Big West Freshman of the Year honors after qualifying for last year's NCAA postseason.

O'ahu native and Hawai'i Pacific University junior transfer, Kellie Yamane, will look to lead the Hawai'i Rainbow Wahine in her home state.

VENUE

The Ocean Course at Hōkūala is part of Timbers Kaua'i, a beautiful 450-acre resort property surrounded by the Pacific Ocean, Kalapaki Bay and Hā'upu Mountain Range.

EVENT HISTORY

In 1999, the Rainbow Wahine Invitational was re-named in honor of the University of Hawai'i's first women's athletic director, Dr. Donnis Thompson, who was introduced into Hawai'i's Sports Circle of Honor in 1988 for her numerous contributions to UH Athletics.

Notable individual champions include Annika Sorenstam (Arizona, 1991 and '92), Janice Moodie (San Jose State, 1994 and '97), Krissie Register (Arizona, 1996 and '99) and Kim Welch (Washington State, 1994 and '95).

Of the 32 individual medalists, five have successfully defended their titles the following year.

QUOTES

"To win any golf tournament is special. Then to defend a title successfully is very gratifying. I try to not think about defending and just focus on doing my best each round," noted World Golf Hall of Fame member and two-time Dr. Donnis Thompson Invitational winner, Annika Sorenstam.

"The beauty of the surroundings is something that I have always remembered. It is hard not to be grateful when you're playing in Hawai'i," reflected Sorenstam on her time in the Aloha State.

"The talent level in women's college golf continues to become stronger and deeper. The college system has been a proven platform to prepare women for the professional ranks," continued Sorenstam, who won seven collegiate titles, the 1991 NCAA Division I Individual Championship and 97 professional wins worldwide. "Rose Zhang, a two-time winner of the ANNIKA Award presented by Stifel, exemplifies not only the golf talent, but also the maturity of young women coming out of college."

"After hosting college golf's top men in last month's Burns Intercollegiate, we are excited to welcome the women to our humble slice of paradise," said Tom Freestone, PGA General Manager, Ocean Course at Hōkūala. "We know that players, coaches and fans alike will quickly embrace Hōkūala's quality conditioning, incredible scenery and gracious aloha."

"I am very excited to host the Dr. Donnis Thompson Invitational at the Ocean Course at Hōkūala," said Hawai'i Women's Golf Head Coach and three-time Big West Coach of the Year, Julie Brooks. "The course features some spectacular views and some challenging holes. Hōkūala is set up perfectly for scoring. We have teams coming from all over the country that are in for a treat."

ATTENDANCE

Tournament attendance is free for walking spectators. Parking is available on-site. The Ocean Course at Hōkūala is a five-minute drive from Lihue Airport (LIH).
